

Bingo With Heston: A fun, math game for children.

11 May 2015

Birmingham, England - Lunapip, releases the latest version of Bingo With Heston - a children's math app available for iPhone and iPad.

Bingo With Heston is a fun game designed to help young children improve their math skills.

Children play a game of number bingo with friendly rabbit Heston who just loves his apples. Heston will ask for the answers to addition and subtraction questions.

The player selects the correct number by tapping one of the available answers. If they are wrong Heston will politely ask them to try again.

Heston speaks the questions and will read out the correct answers. The correct answer is also displayed on the screen to help children learn to recognise each number.

The game also has a countdown timer so that more proficient children can try to beat their previous time.

Version 3.0 has been completely rewritten and features brand new graphics and animations. In addition, this latest version now features three difficulty levels covering a range of math skills.

Bingo With Heston is an engaging game that will keep children entertained at the same time they are learning.
